

Doctor of Pharmacy bachelor Program Advisory Committee

The Faculty of Clinical Pharmacy's Pharm D Program Advisory Committee was established pursuant to the decree No. 43106746, dated 06/03/1443, issued by his Excellency the president of Al Baha University towards following up and ensuring the quality of the inputs and outcomes of the educational process in the faculty and its suitability to the requirements of the labor market.

Objectives

- The Pharm D Program Advisory Committee was established to active both the vision and mission of the faculty of clinical pharmacy, realize the concept of community partnership and link the outputs of the program with the requirements of the labor market in both the private and public sectors.
- The Pharm D Program Advisory Committee further reflects the active participation by some of the most influential business and civil society organizations, aiming to develop the programs of the faculty, link its outputs with the labor market and explore the views of the business sector as to the quality of the faculty graduates towards the realization of comprehensive development.
- The Pharm D Program Advisory Committee further embodies the active participation by a number of the community's targeted organizations in guiding the faculty in such a way as to enhance cooperation, partnership and integration between the faculty on the one hand and the business and community organizations on the other, thus presenting the faculty with the opportunity to take part in making the decisions of significant impact upon the community in accordance with a well-regulated management style, drawing, towards that end, on the most successful national and international experiences in this field.
- The Pharm D Program Advisory Committee seeks to engage prominent academic and administrative competences in the decision-making process and to contribute to the development of the academic, research and service processes in support of the mission of the program and towards the realization of the program's sought objectives.

Tasks

- Contributing proposals aimed at furthering the faculty's future prospects.
- Highlighting the best ways to strengthen and deepen the partnership between the faculty and the local community.
- Contributing to the development of the program and curriculums in line with the requirements of the labor market.
- Contributing to the implementation of the faculty's work plan.
- Submitting proposals aimed at mobilizing both material and moral support for the faculty.
- Linking the faculty to the business sector and by so doing contributing to the development of a coordination mechanism aiming at finding integrated solutions for the community's pressing problems through the establishment of joint projects.
